Some people think that extreme sports help to build character. But is it really such a good idea for humans life? Here's my opinion about this situation.

In my opinion extreme sports can help people to build character. Firstly, a person starts to take more responsibility for his own and others' lives, has more knowledge at this sport and gets prepared for any kind of situation. Secondly, it makes life getting more interesting, breathtaking and builds memories.

But there also some reasons to not try extreme sports. Firstly, person can get some physical problems, ruin his health and get a trauma that can change his life not for the better way. Secondly, person can get a new phobia. Instead of feeling excited with this sport, he can start to be scared by water, fire, height and other things that used to be the main in his life.

I disagree with those reasons I described before. As for me, person can get damaged and get a trauma even by having boning and safe like so I think extreme sports are really good idea.

I recommend to spend your life happily and have something to talk about with your children.
