Nowadays, many people are attracted by virtual world in computer games because there they can overcome all difficulties. Because of this reason they think that computer games are better than life.

I totally disagree with this opinion because I strongly believe that real life is more amusing and impressing. In the modern world there are a lot of interesting activities which can make our life wonderful. For example, we can go to the cinema, to the theatre or meet with our friends. Moreover, computer games can lead to health problems such as obesity and headache.

I would like to conclude by saying that virtual world will not has been better than real life.
