WRITING

At present, computer games are very popular among people from different ages. Some people consider computer games to be better than real life. Is it true?

To my mind, it is not. To begin with, a computer game is undoubtedly a great way of entertainment. Playing a video game makes you feel relaxed. However, playing too much hours may lead to eye pain or back pain. There is also a problem of communication because talking to ~~one~~ no one may lower your self-esteem.

Bearing all things in mind I could say that nothing is better than real life, especially when it concerns playing computer games.
