ANSWER SHEET

I am doing a project on the major advantages of living in a city. I have found a table with some relevant data on my project. They are based on the results of the opinion polls.

As the table shows, the majority (56%) of respondents choose the option "Better opportunities for work and study" as one of the advantages of living in a city. Only 7% choose "Better facilities for sports and art education".

I should mention that the number of people who opt for "Better opportunities for work and study" is much higher than the number of those who choose "Various entertainment and events" (36% and 21%). No doubt, it is more important for people to have a good job and high salary than the opportunity to relax and have fun.

Unfortunately, some problems can arise with living in a city. For example, <sup>citizens</sup> often suffer from a lack of parking ~~places~~ for their cars. To solve this problem one can use mostly public transport: buses, trams etc.

In my point of view the life in a big city has got a lot of advantages, because the city offers a lot of opportunities to develop one's skills and personality. It also helps to climb a career ladder.
