ANSWER SHEET

I would like to present a project on the major advantages of living in a city. As part of this project, I have found a table that contains results from a previous survey.

Most of the respondents answered that the biggest advantage of living in a city is the better opportunities for work and study (36%). Other notable responses include having all the modern conveniences (26%) and various entertainment and events.

Notably, the amount of people who responded with "Better roads and infrastructure" is significantly lower than the other responses, being only 9% of all total respondents. I believe that this is because car infrastructure in cities tends to end up terrible both for the drivers and pedestrians alike.

A problem that can arise with living in a city is being easily overwhelmed. Life in a city tends to go really fast, and sometimes it is very difficult to keep up with the pace. A way to solve this problem can be to occasionally take breaks from this atmosphere by going to the countryside. Being close to nature is a great way to relieve all that built up stress.

To conclude, I believe that life in a big city is excellent due to the various opportunities for all sorts of activities it provides. While it can easily be tiring and stressful, there are ways to find relief.
